

Year 7 Christmas Newsletter

This has been a fantastic term for our Year 7 students, and it has been a real pleasure to witness how well the students have settled into their new school. Our students have been showcasing outstanding effort and hard work in every challenge set for them and I am very proud to share our year group's achievements, from tutor awards, to subject rewards and the prestigious Head of Year award.

Year seven have been working extremely hard and have been rewarded with over 29,000 reward points so far, which they have been able to spend in our reward shop. A special well done is offered to Mr Roger's tutor group, who are just in the lead now on rewards points. In addition, I would like to extend huge congratulations to Ava G from 7DRO for exceptional dedication as she has earned the most reward points in the year group so far, with zero negative points too! This is an extraordinary achievement, and she has received this term's Head of Year reward as a result.

The term has been filled with fun quizzes and challenges that brought out the competitive spirit between our students and even our staff. The rivalry between Mrs Rush and Mr Baker's tutor groups added an extra spark of excitement to our days. However, Mrs Carey's tutor group has emerged victorious this term after winning the Odd Sock competition, the Christmas Card competition and the Christmas Quiz. They have demonstrated super creativity and camaraderie throughout.

Congratulations too to the following students who have been recognised this term for their super contributions to tutor time:

Thank you to our student council team members who have not only lead tutor sessions, keeping their tutor groups updated with important information but also played important roles in the school Christmas fayre. Your work is very much appreciated.

All our students recently entered a Christmas card design competition. Poppy G won and Alyssa J was runner up in the whole school competition KS3 category. Poppy's cards were sold at the Christmas fayre.

It is always fabulous to hear of students doing great things in the local community. Georgia and Mia raised money for charity as part of Sea Cadets and Alfie has won several sporting awards. Well done!

Lastly, as we approach the school holidays, I want to wish each and every one of you a joyful and restful Christmas break. Thank you for all your support and I look forward to another term of pride, effort and achievement through unforgettable experiences.

All the best,

Mrs Pykett (Head of Year 7)
