

Religious Studies

Through the study of RE, we impart powerful knowledge which provides students with an understanding of Britain's religious roots as well as developing their knowledge of other religions. In particular, we aim to:

- Increase awareness of, and respect for, different religions, cultures and beliefs
- Provide students with the ability to make informed judgements on contemporary issues
- Spread an understanding of the importance of religion to the country's history and identity
- Provide cultural capital through understanding key terminology and modern debates
- Allow students to understand and comprehend sources of authority in a range of religions
